"THE GRAIN OF DUST"

James K. Hackett is enjoying one of the most eventful dramatic seasons in his experience in "The Grain of Dust". He will appear at the Oliver on Monday evening next. Mr. Hackett will come here with a strictly all-American company which stands out noticeably at this time, when so much is being said and printed of the English invasion of our stage.

Mr. Hackett is most admirably cast for the role of Frederick Norman, the young corporation lawyer whose career forms the foundation of the story of the play. Those who remember Hackett's stage characterizations, viz: John Glade in "John Glade's Honor", "Rupert of Hentzau", "Samson", "The Walls of Jericho" and "The Prisoner of Zenda", which brought him such great fame, will know what to expect when it is said that the character of Frederick Norman is probably his greatest stage portrayal.

"The Grain of Dust" is Louis Evan Shipman's dramatization of the book of the same name by David Graham Phillips, and was made by Mr. Hackett's special use. The play is in four acts, and is noteworthy, in respect to its interest holding qualities, for not for a solitary moment in the telling of the story does the auditor lose interest in the working out of the plot.

Mr. Hackett's supporting cast can truly be said to be a remarkable one. Among the best known players to be seen in "The Grain of Dust" are Beatrice Beckley and Rowland Buckstone.

"ARIZONA"

"Arizona" will be the attraction at the Auditorium today. As a photodrama it is shown in six parts and 210 scenes and employs the services of 150 actors. Augustus Thomas, who wrote "Arizona", and who made the production for the All Star Feature corporation of New York, secured a notable cast of players including Cyril Scott, who plays "Denton"; Gail Kane as "Bonita"; William Hodgman; Frank Carlisle; Lizzie McCall; H. D. Blackmore; Gertrude Shipman and Wong Ling, a native Chinaman, as "Sam" and Robert Broderick, who created the part of "Canby". Tomorrow two big features will be seen, "A Leader of Men" with Arthur Johnson in the leading role, a two-reel Lubin, and "The Hermit of Lonely Gulch", a sensational western play in two reels. In addition a comedy, "Caught Courting", with Maurice Costello, will be given.

AT SURPRISE THEATER TODAY. Lois Weber, besides directing an important part in "The Jew's Christmas", a two-reel drama, is the author. An intensely interesting story, it concerns the love of a Jewish girl for a Gentile. Though treating on a delicate subject the play, through the artistry of the Smalleys, rises above any sentimental objection that might be launched against such a subject. America has been rightly designated the "Melting Pot". Through the immigration ports of a city, such as New York, there swarms every day hordes from various corners of the earth, and if there be exhibited surface race and creed prejudices by certain classes and people these are swallowed up in the inevitable rise of the great mind of the "God of Love". All the world loves a lover; the heart warms to the man who reaches out and takes love despite creed or religious restrictions, and just so, your heart is going to warm to the boy and girl in this play, both so genuinely human, who believe that love levels all things.

"LOVE'S SUNSET"

As the production of motion picture dramas progresses, more and more interesting and really dramatic life-portrayals are being shown on the screen. A brilliant illustration of what may be accomplished is seen in "Love's Sunset" with Earle Williams, Clara Kimball Young and Darwin Karr in the cast, at the American theater today.

The story of the drama centers around the married life of a beautiful young woman who at one time was a cabaret dancer. Her past life is not known to her husband who believes that she has always been exemplary in her conduct. A climax is reached when the other man returns home from Europe after an absence of three years and without knowing his friend had married calls upon him and there comes face to face with his former sweetheart.

AT THE ORPHEUM.

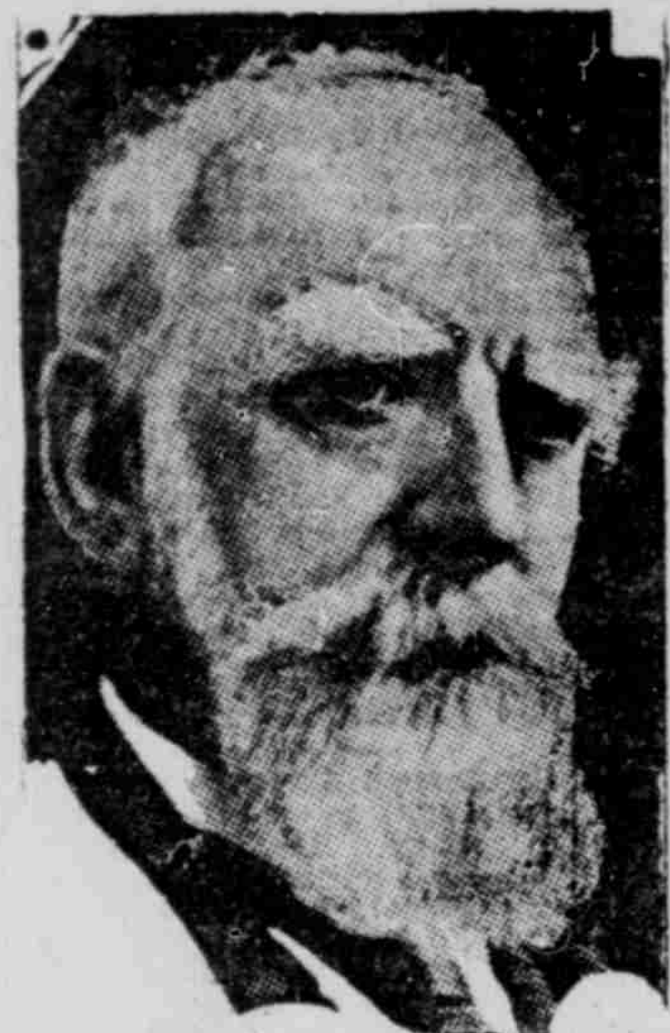

"How much do I hear? How much do I hear, dear friend, for this perfectly go-o-o-d bushel of potatoes—Going, going, gone. This high price of living? Ban! Sold at cost!"—that or something like it will be part of Lew Shank's speech at the Orpheum the last part of the week, when he comes to hammer our daily expense account. He will tell why we pay too much for potatoes, cabbage, corn, beef and the like. Lew, who was formerly the big chief of the city of Indianapolis, will tell how to hit old Mr. High Cost with living right in the solar plexus in a tucny way.

Fresh from triumphs in other cities, where his name glared forth in big electric signs, ex-Mayor Shank, and a secretary will arrive in South Bend Thursday noon, ready to begin a three days' engagement at the Orpheum. He begins his sketch by humorously telling of some of his experiences as mayor of Indianapolis and as a vaudeville artist. Then he explains why the cost of living should not be high. He tells how he sold 16

GRAND OLD MAN OF CANADA IS DEAD

LONDON, Jan. 21.—Lord Strathcona died early Tuesday morning. His passage was as though he had entered into a peaceful sleep. Death was the result of senile exhaustion, following a severe attack of catarrh. The "Grand Old Man of Canada" as he was known, was in his 95th year. He had been in bad health ever since the death of his wife on Nov. 2 of last year.

Lord Strathcona and Mount Royal was born Donald Alexander Smith, of good parentage in the Scotch Highlands. When he was 18 years old he went to Canada, apprenticed to the Hudson Bay Co. So well did he serve in the frozen wilds that he became the last resident governor of the company as a governing body.

This Scottish immigrant of three-quarters of a century ago was, when he died, high commissioner for the Dominion of Canada in Great Britain, probably the largest individual landowner in the world and tremendously wealthy. He largely developed the great empire of Canada; he was a statesman, politician, diplomatist, a great figure in commerce. He was a philanthropist, established hospitals and schools. He gave $5,000 to the fund raised for the survivors of the Titanic and $5,000 to other funds for the victims of the Ohio floods early in 1912. He gave $1,000,000 to Montreal, $1,000,000 to establish the Royal Victoria college for the higher education of women; $1,000,000 for the Royal Victoria hospital and large sums to other institutions.

Mr. Real Estate Purchaser

You have heard of frauds and forgeries in real estate deals. Just now there is much talk about losses on account of the practices of a certain real estate dealer who recently filed a petition in bankruptcy, showing losses to creditors of nearly $150,000.00.

Had these parties required abstracts or title insurance policies showing perfect titles much of this loss would not have occurred. Let us show you how to avoid such losses in the future.

And Still They Talk

People are still talking about the programs we had Monday and Tuesday. And the best is yet to come. No South Bend theater has ever had story pictures superior to those at the American. Here's what one critic said of one of our photo-dramas: "If you want to distinguish real art from craftsmanship, just see 'Love's Sunset' and compare it with any of the 'thrillers.' You will then realize that it is not necessary to sink a ship or burn a building in every successful play." You should see every program at this theater. They're simply grand.
